When the Home Boys Play

Wm. Herschell in Indianapolis News.

Now don't think I'm a-sayin', folks, our team's so doggone good. They'd knock th' kiver off th' ball fer Mat-the-won er Wood. But just fer small town fellers—workin' weekdays, as they do—They've liked 'bout everything they is 'twixt Vevay and Peru. 'Course you folks in th' city here has paid-off nines t' show. Whilst all our players ever git is home newspaper blow. An' yet, withal, we're might proud an' bold enough t' say There's allus somethin' doin' when our home boys play!

There's Monkey Dicks, at second, allus actin' up th' fool. An' Marv Glen, th' pitcher, just come home from soldier school; There's Oscar Mosby's boys, th' twins, one ketchin', one in right. An' when it comes to hittin', them there twins is out o' sight. They just keep scrapplin' all th' time 'bout which one's best, you see, An' th' Redhead hits two sacks ole Tow-head hits fer three. There's Lusky, Lintz an' Hildebrand; McGinty, Gibeau an' Gray—All 'em 'em scintillatin' when our home boys play!

Our ball park ain't no garden—we've no cushions for a seat— But when it comes to peanuts, folks, ourn's purty hard to beat. Our uniforms ain't major league, but yet, by golly, we Kin slide to second just as fast as Murphy er Magee. Our boys steal bases ever' time they think we peel th' score— Why, if 'twixt 'twixt 'twixt they'd be jailed a hundred years er more! What's that, yer sayin', mister? Ye heard we lost too! Well, sometimes them things happen when our home boys play!

TWO TRAVELERS.

THE STRONGER WAS THE WEAKER.

By Edwin C. Waverly

Back in the sixties, when the Union Pacific was being built and the rails had been laid only as far as Laramie, a certain train one day arrived at that point. Among the passengers who alighted to take the coach westward, was a young man whose dress might be considered faultless were it not rather in the line of the actor of that period. He wore a checkered suit and an cravat of a bright blue hue tied in a knot resembling the expanded wings of a butterfly. His face was clean shaven, and his hair was cut short. In his shirt front he wore a diamond stud that flashed in the sunlight. Five feet six inches was his height. As to his weight, that was not to be determined except on the scales, for clothes were worn baggy in those days, and the gentleman's apparel was cut in the height of fashion.

In company with this young man was another, ten years his senior, whom he called Bill, the latter ad-dressing the former as Johnny. Bill was a heavy fat man, plainly dressed and unassuming in his demeanor. He deferred to his slighter companion in some ways and assumed authority over him in others. For instance, meeting a chill wind from the mountains he suggest to Johnny that he put on his overcoat. Johnny objected on the ground that he was already too warm, whereupon Bill ordered him in no uncertain tone to do as he directed, and the little fellow obeyed him instantly. During the stagecoach journey that followed a stop was made for a change of horses at a station composed of the relay, a gambling house and a saloon. The relay was for the stage line, the gambling house and the saloon for the people of the surrounding country.

"This mountain air has made me chilly," said he who was called Bill. "I think I'll go over to that saloon and get something to warm me up."

To the surprise of the other passengers, he did not invite his companion to join him, though he extended an invitation to each and all of them. One man accepted, the others declined, and the two walked to the saloon.

There was probably not a worse crowd to be found in the wild west in those days than was congregated in that saloon. Five men were loitering about, each man wearing a sombrero, most of them a stabbled beard about an eighth of an inch long, a woolen shirt and two revolvers strapped to the belt. Their faces were red from frequent potations, and they were then hanging about the place "laying" for some one to buy them a drink.

Bill entered with the man he had invited to join him. The two stepped up to the bar and called for whisky. They were about to drink it when one of the loungers, coming forward, said:

"See yere, gents, what kind o' manners do you call them, drinkin' by yourselves without an invite for any other gent present?"

"It's not the custom," Bill responded, "in the country from which we came to ask persons to drink simply because they happen to be on hand."

"Well, it's the rule yere."

"Is it enforced?"

"You bet." And the man slapped the revolver on his right hip with his hand.

"I've always heard," continued Bill coolly, "that you gentlemen in this country, whatever you do, play fair. My friend and I are unarmed, and I don't think it would be a straight game for you to take a drink out of us at the point of a pistol."

The loiterers who had stood up to back their spokesman seemed to differ as to this proposition, some of them taking the ground that since it was the custom it didn't matter how it was enforced, other declaring that the stranger was right. He should be allowed to go for a weapon, after which, if he would rather fight than set up the drunks, he could begin shooting as soon as he liked.

"I couldn't hit a barn door with a gun," said Bill, "but I wouldn't mind a fight with fists. That wouldn't do either. There isn't any of you here who would be a match for me."

The loiterers held a conference, and one of them, thinking he could tackle the stranger, offered to do so. Bill shook his head. "It wouldn't be a fair match," he said. "I'm too heavy for you." Then, after a moment's pause, he added:

"There's a young man traveling with me who, I think would about do for you. If you don't mind referring the dispute to him, I don't mind either."

"Trot him out," was the reply to this.

Bill asked the man he had invited to drink to go for his friend, and Johnny soon came into the saloon. His appearance at once excited a guffaw, the object of which stood looking somewhat puzzled. Bill explained to the situation to him and, turning to the crowd, said:

"He's a better man than he looks, but if any you gentlemen wants to bet you can knock him out, I wouldn't object to going you for a small amount on it."

There was another conference, which resulted in the scraping together of $125. all there was among the westerners, and they nominated a man they called Bill Hunker to stand up against the little fellow and win a similar amount to be put up by Bill. The stage driver was called in for stakeholder, and a ring was formed on the level ground before the saloon. Johnny took off his coat and vest, retaining his shirt. Had he doffed this also some surprise might have been created at the muscle lying under the soft white skin of his arm. As it was, Johnny didn't show for much more than when his coat was on him.

His antagonist stood six feet one in his stockings and was a powerful man. The only thing against him was the use of too much liquor, and he could not be expected to last very long against one of equal strength. Realizing this element of weakness, he went at Johnny like a bull, intending to crush him out at once. But Johnny pirouetted like a dancing master, and before his enemy could recover, dealt him a smart blow on the nose that drew first blood.

This first episode caused those who had calculated to win a little money to doubt the ease with which it could be obtained. Johnny did not seem in a hurry to tackle his enemy, keeping on the defensive. But it soon became apparent to the bystanders that there was a cat and a mouse game going on, only the mouse was playing with the cat to the cat's discomfiture. The big man struck out with blows heavy enough to break every bone in his antagonist's body, but the body was never in the place at which he aimed. Johnny sidestepped and ducked and fell back, his enemy vainly trying to find him with his big fist. The westerner soon lost his wind and from that time staggered about like the bulk of a derelict tossed by the waves.

"I don't want to hurt him," Johnny replied, still dancing about in a circle.

Presently the big man gathered his forces for a final effort. Johnny dived between his legs, rose and landed his enemy on his back. The fallen man lay quiet for a few moments, when he was helped to his feet by one of his friends. But he was breathing hard and positively declined to renew the encounter.

"Gentlemen," said Bill, "step inside and join me in a tipple. Mr. Stakeholder, give the gentlemen back their stake. Come in, all. I've been interrupted in my refreshment long enough and am very chilly."

All flocked into the saloon except the victor, who remained outside.

"Say, stranger," called one of the party as he saw Johnny walking away to the coach, "where y' roin'?"

Johnny made no reply, and the other followed the crowd into the saloon.

"What's the matter with the kid?" he asked of Bill. "Don't he drink?"

"Not just now. You see, he's a featherweight boxer on his way to Frisco to a match made with the Sacramento bantam. I'm his trainer. I don't let him drink."

So many and so varied were the ejaculations to this startling announcement that they could not be separated one from another.

"Now, gentlemen," continued the speaker, "I see that the coach is ready to move on. I'm much obliged to you for affording me amusement during the stop, and if any of you would like to go to see the match I'd be happy to furnish you with free admission tickets." Good morning.

The crowd went with him to the coach, where they found Johnny—the exclusive object of curiosity—sitting on top looking down on them benignly.

"What a kitten!"

"Playful like, isn't he?"

"Say, little one, do you play checkers on that coat o' your'n?"

These were a few of the remarks made, but Johnny declined no reply. Bill got inside, and when all was ready the coach rolled away, one man in the crowd left behind calling out:

"Say, Mr. Trainer, much obliged for not takin' yer winnin's along!"

After that the gang of loiterers in the saloon were very chary in permitting those they tackled to use their own weapons, insisting in every case upon the revolver. But the iron horse brought progress, and where that gin mill stood now stands a church, surrounded by business and dwelling houses, all furnished with electric lights and such other modern conveniences.

July 12, '13.—Superintendent and Mrs. J. W. Jones returned from the Indianapolis Conference, Saturday morning, coming all the way in their automobile. The city papers announced that he had been chosen President of the Conference.

The writer returned from his Pennsylvania visit Sunday night, having left there Saturday noon for Bellaire, where he and grandson were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel W. Corbett, and enjoyed their hospitality very much. The Glass Works where Sam has been employed as a foreman of a department for many years, was to close down Monday for several weeks, or during the heated term, and Sam was glad of the opportunity for a respite and thus give him more time to look after his chickens. Seeing he had his chicken house chained down, we asked the reason and were informed that it was to prevent midnight prowlers from making way with it in unguarded moments. If work is not too brisk he will show up at the Cleveland N. A. D. Convention.

By the way, isn't it about time the Local Committee up there made some announcement as to hotels and rates for Association's members? We have been questioned about the matter, but not having seen anything on the matter, could give no definite answer. It would be best to keep a list of hotels and their rates standing in the official notices of the Convention.

Mrs. C. W. Charles and two daughters have gone up to Michigan where cooling zephyrs afford the lake keep one from fretting about the heat. Meanwhile, her fiercest swelters down here at odd jobs in the printing office, and keeping "Bachelor's Hall." He may go off later for a respite from dry and torrid region.

Mr. Wm. H. Zorn was called to the home of his mother up in Wood County, by telegram, last Saturday. The infirmities of age and a stroke of paralysis had rendered her condition serious. We have not heard of the result.

Mrs. Mary Hewitt Jones and two children, of Memphis, Tenn., is expected here, her former home, in a couple of weeks, to remain until after the reunion. Her husband, Mr. Eugene Jones, will probably not be on hand, because of plenty of work, and he prefers to "make hay while the sun shines."

Mrs. Jones and children had been in Jackson, Miss., for a month, returning to attend the Tennessee Convention in Memphis. She enjoyed her visit there, and more especially the daily chicken eats.

The members of the convention, during an excursion down the river on a steamer, had a "cake walk." Mr. Harris and Mrs. Jones easily carried off the prize.

Clarence Jones, of this city, a painter by trade, in the employ of the Olentangy Park Managers, Messrs. Dusenbury Brothers, fell from a ladder while doing a piece of painting last week, breaking a knee cap in five places. He was taken to St. Francis Hospital. He was married a year or so, and has one child, a few months old. His employers are generous, having told Mr. Jones that he should not worry about his family, as they would take care of it as long as he was confined.

Mr. Elasco Burcham motorcycled to Richmond, Ind., leaving here at 4 o'clock in the morning of July 4th, and reaching the Hoosier town at 10 A.M. same day. He spent the time there with friends, returning Monday morning. The distance between the two points is about 112 miles.

Mr. Joseph Neutzing and family went down to Jeffersonville on July 3d, to celebrate the Glorious Fourth, with the Hines, and help them lesson the number of their chickens by a big dinner that day. They came back Sunday, leaving Joe's oldest son there to earn some spending money, acting as water boy for the harvest hands, for, be it remembered, Mr. Hines owns quite a farm down there, and during harvesting season, there are busy scenes about the place.

Miss Margaret Rife, who has been living in New Hampshire for some years, has returned Ohio, and is making her home with a niece at Worthington, near this city.

Mrs. Wm. Sprague was visiting friends in Columbus this week. She lives near Reynoldsburg, in this county.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Peter Shinderoff, of Fostoria, June 29th. He has been named Claude Foster. Mother and child are doing well.

During the service in Tiffin by Rev. B. R. Allabough, July 1st, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sheets with their baby were baptized by him.

A severe hail storm visited this region and near Grove City south of the city, the middle of the week, doing damage to the amount of $150,000, in the county to crops, glass, trees. Some of the hail stones were as large as hen's eggs. A man was struck by one on the arm, breaking the latter.

Mr. Joseph Goldman, of Middletown, O., came up here last evening, and was a guest of the writer. He brought a large floral wreath to be placed on the bier of Mrs. James E. Campbell, who died early Thursday morning. She was the wife of former Governor Campbell, who still lives. Mr. Goldman, who is a well known florist, made the emblem from flowers of his greenhouse. It was a beauty made up of lilies and roses, and was ordered by Middletown friends of the deceased.

Miss Helen Gornall left to-day for Detroit, where she has secured a position in a bindery. She was formerly employed in the State Bindery here, but owing to dullness of work, concluded to go elsewhere.

Mrs. Wm. Mayer and children departed for McGrahn, Penn., Saturday last, on an extended visit to her sister, Mrs. Herman Cook.

A remarkable natural bridge in the Philippines was recently discovered by Paul R. Fanning. Although only about thirty miles south of Manila, it is believed never to have been visited before by white man, and it is the first large natural bridge reported in the Philippines. It is on the Lusehin stream, a couple of miles west of Silang. The stream runs through a canyon, and the space beneath the bridge forms a tunnel, about thirty-five feet broad and some 250 feet long. The floor of the bridge, now about 130 feet above the stream, bears evidence of having once been the bed of the latter.

When an electric current flows through a conductor it is not sent or pushed through like a fluid in a pipe, but is rather handed on from particle to particle. In other words, it is a transfer of electrical energy, which can be illustrated by setting up a row of rubber balls tangent to each other. Now, if we strike these balls at one end the energy will be transferred from ball to ball, and can be utilized at the other.

Here we had no actual flow, and yet the energy was transferred from one end to the other. The basic units which we use are the unit of electrical pressure, or volt, and the unit of resistance to flow, or the ohm.

One of the most striking results of the "Battle of Stepney," a year or two ago, in London, was on the profits of gunsmiths. The automatic pistols used by the besieged bandits in their desperate fight with the police and the guards were extensively described and illustrated in the press. Till then the automatic pistol had barely been heard of by the average Englishmen. Since then, however, gunsmiths have sold as many automatic pistols in a week as they had previously sold in a year. A big, successful safe robbery, curious as it may seem, does good, not harm, to the safe business. Firms which have to keep large stocks of cash or valuables on the premises are apt to discard their five or ten-year-old safes for the very newest types. The safemakers are always working a little ahead of even the most skilled of safe breakers, and the very newest of safes are known to be quite safe for a few years, till the scientific safe breaker catches up. So safemakers chuckle after a big safe robbery.

SPORT

No one has yet found fault with the guy who put "run" in running at the Alphabet A. C. games. There was more excitement at Ulmer Park, during the afternoon's track events than can be remembered since the Surds first started the line moving for the enclosure by the sea as a suitable trysting place for a deaf-mute Saturday half-holiday. Tom Cosgrove, he of the Alphabets and the same who is a frat, was to a great extent responsible for hair-raising stunts on tap during the silent Olympiad tests. The fault with Cosgrove was an over-anxiety to keep things on the move. In the four-forty, he breasted out Fisher, of the Clarks, by a scant nose at the finish. It was a capital race, and said E. A. Hodgson was forced to his feet to get a line on the official decision of the judges as to who came came under the wire first. Happily the judges got their wits in shape in time to award first money to the rightful winner, Cosgrove himself.

In the longer event, Cosgrove butted in on forbidden ground, and his good intention caused even a greater row at the finish than his capital win a short time before had stirred up. The dignitaries and outsiders raised the dust, even though they talked with their hands and fingers, and when calm settled the Xavier entrant was given first place, and Cosgrove's club-mate had to be content with a silver prize. But the coaching of Tom was excusable. He is young, and inexperienced. Time will eventually show him a comer in more lines than one.

With the tie to be run off to settle the ownership of the point trophy, it should be remembered the deciding event was a three-mile run, wherein the Clark entrant beat the Xavier boy by a narrow margin. It is hoped the officials may consider the distance in their deliberations, and make the concluding test either a one or two mile race, with but one representative from the Clarks and Xaviers competing. That would be the proper course.

The Alphabet track events gave a bigger boom among the deaf than the most enthusiastic among the track fans hereabouts dreamed of. It is hoped for the good of the deaf followers of the sport, the enthusiasm may continue, and that at the Surds outing even a classier field will face the starter than characterized the Alphabet meet.

It is said Martin Caviston, a Philadelphian, is considered well nigh invincible in the sprints by the Quaker City sports. Why not back up their claim, chip in and send him here to try conclusions with Breslauer, of the Clarks; Harrington, of the Xaviers; Nimmo, of the Fanwoods, and others nearly as good?

Some places in New England (Boston?) they boast of a prodigy, who is deaf, and can run like a Kiviat or Meredith. Ulmer Park would be a capital place for him to show his mettle.

The Clarks are apparently corraling outsiders on their track team. Well and good. For one thing, the Clark boys deserve unstinted praise for their consistency and persistency in developing their athletic prowess. Others among the deaf might learn something therefrom. Sam Breslauer won a prize on July 4th, at a set of games held under the direction of the Safe and Same Celebration Committee. This is the third time in succession Breslauer has been a Fourth of July victor.

Hugo Schmidt, captain of the Cherry X team, is not saying much, but thinking hard. Just which one of his boys will be placed in position to try and redeem the Alphabet point trophy, he has not decided. Varonne is a likely one, but an injury to his leg some time ago may cause him to give place to Harrington, who is at present out of town. Diano and Nellner are promising youngsters, and McNally may even be given a try. He proved his worth at the recent games. Leave it to Hugo. He knows who to select.

Young Bennett, the rosy-cheeked Mt. Airy boy, who was seen at the Alphabet meet, and last Summer also showed at Ulmer Park, has the making of a good distance runner.

All he needs are a few pointers on, how to conduct his stride. He was almost alone, and otherwise would have caused a big gap between himself and competitors.

Wiemuth has a long lope resembling that of Tom Longboat. What he lacks is the ability to lift his legs higher in circling the track.

Ohland and Gabriel, of the Alphabets, are a speedy pair. The former is apparently overworked, while the latter only needs some Cosgrove ginger to bring him out as a possible championship middle distancer.

ST. LOUIS.

The Ladies Home Fund Club held their annual picnic on the 4th, in Forest Park, and in spite of frequent showers, drew a fair-sized crowd.

The games were held late in the afternoon, and the winners were found to be Mrs. Steideman (2), Mrs. Bennett, Messrs. Burrier, Block and —. The refreshment stands did a good business throughout the day and a nice sum was realized for the fund.

Rev. Cloud left recently for a month's trip to California, with side stops along the way, holding services wherever convenient. In his absence, services will be held as usual by the lay-reader of the mission.

Miss Jennie Susman returned recently from Gallaudet College, having finished the five years course of study. St. Louis will keep a representative at the College in the person of Miss Dorothy Pfaff, who has passed all examinations for admission and will enter in the fall of this year.

Miss Amy Martin, of Indianapolis, was a visitor in this city and Alton, Ill., for the past two weeks, stopping with her former school mates, Mrs. Steideman, of St. Louis, and Mrs. Schwartz, of Alton, and gave her friends all the news from Indiana. From all indications she enjoyed her stay to the limit.

Mr. P. T. Hughes, of the Oklahoma School staff, returned to his native town on the close of school, long enough to shake hands with several friends before going to Niagara Falls and vicinity on a vacation outing.

Miss Jessie Pierson, with her mother, left last week for a permanent stay in Cornwalls, Ore. The deaf regret their departure and trust they will like their new home.

Several fishing parties were made by the local deaf during the three days' holiday, but so far none caught anything worth mentioning. Among them were Messrs. Stumpe, Brookman, Arnot, Burgher, Haig, Hunter, Jones and Miss Kneichel.

Two fair tennis enthusiasts decided to have a few games by themselves in the early morning hours, so on the 5th, went out to the grounds fully equipped as they thought. It was not until they had secured a court, stretched the net and were about to play, when it occurred to them that they had forgotten the tennis balls.

Do you think in Pictures or in sound and words?

The great majority of people can be classified in one or the other of two psychological types, corresponding to the great senses of sight and hearing. These classes sometimes are called the "visuals" and "auditives," respectively. The "visuals," or visualizers, seem to conduct the majority of their mental processes by visual symbolism. They "think in pictures;" their mental method is graphic. The majority of women belong to this group, and of course, the majority of painters, sculptors, architects, decorators, engineers and mechanically gifted people. Such people readily apprehend space relations and can conceive new ones. If they possess this power in high degree, they can paint fine pictures, build new types of architecture, conceive new machines.

The auditives, on the other hand, think more in sound and words, and not in pictures. They naturally include the musicians, the men of letters, and the scientific and philosophic people. They are more numerous among men than among women. They notice things around them less, and are more commonly credited with being "absent-minded."

If great development of either is rare, vastly rarer is great development of both in one and the same individual. Such individuals stand out as the few supreme examples of what we call versatility, and of these the most notable representative in the history of the world was Leonardo da Vinci.—Sel.

Machine Measures Grades of Hearing.

A remarkable instrument has just been brought out by the National Society for the Prevention and Amelioration of Deafness in England. It is a machine which measures accurately the degree of deafness. By means of it, it has been found that there are 3,500 grades of hearing. A person with normal hearing can, by using it, hear a tiny wafer dropped upon a table or the stroking of a piece of paper by the finger, which produces a wavy, hissing sound. It is claimed that on finding out with the machine the actual degree of hearing of any person, a receiver can be made which will give perfect hearing to any save one born deaf. Many tests have been made with the machine. The same society has also devised an almost invisible aid to the deaf, a sort of magnifier of sound. It is in the form of a thin plate which is placed upon the chest under the necktie. The plate is connected by fine wires that pass up behind the ears and into the canal of the ear, where they end in tiny drums. The chest plate acts like the diaphragm of a telephone, collecting the sound and sending it to the ears. The wires are so fine that the ears conceal them.

NOTE A—Members in good standing who have paid their dues to July 1, 1913.

NOTE B—Members who joined at Colorado Springs or since, who have not paid their dues in full to date. These will be entitled to vote by proxy at the Cleveland Convention, provided they pay their dues before August 20th. With many of these the non-payment of dues is simply an oversight, and it is to be hoped that most of them will pay up before the Cleveland Convention. Send your dues to S. M. Freeman, Cave Springs, Ga. Money should be mailed so as to reach Mr. Freeman not later than August 10th. Annual dues, 50 cents. After August 15th, Mr. Freeman may be addressed: Care Charles R. Neillie, 4317 E. 116th Street, Cleveland, Ohio.

N. A. D. LIST OF MEMBERS IN GOOD STANDING, JULY 1, 1913—PAID UP TO JUNE 1, 1914.

(Compiled by S. M. Freeman, Treasurer.)
Star (*) indicates new members since August 15th 1910, and up to July 1st, 1913.

NEW YORK.

News items for this column, should be sent direct to the DEAF-MUTES' JOURNAL, Station M, New York.

A few words of information in a letter or on a postal card is sufficient. We will do the rest.

Despite the heavy rain pour on Saturday evening, July 12th, Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Patterson, of 436 Wythe Avenue, Brooklyn, were really unexpectedly seized by a goodly group of deaf-mute friends, at their comfortable home, which they are widely known to have occupied many years. All assembled at the bakery corner nearby, numbering twenty-five. They were a very respectable company, including Messrs. Wilkinson and Valles. After the seats were allotted to each person in order in a circle, Mr. Patterson, in a very appropriate address congratulated Mr. and Mrs. Patterson on the happy event of their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary, and then Mr. Valles rose, making an impressive address, remembering Mr. and Mrs. Patterson's numerous hospitalities to some people in trouble, and some others in enjoyment, during the past twenty-five years. Miss Sarah Sturwald, a well known charming lady, of Brooklyn, followed those gentlemen's address, saying she had acknowledged her duty to help Mr. and Mrs. Patterson along, so she had collected the handsome sum of twenty-two dollars, as an affectionate token, and handed an envelope enclosing the money to Mrs. Patterson and her beloved husband, as a present for their necessities, in place of silver gifts, besides some money left for elegant and bountiful refreshments. After this, dancing, and other amusements were indulged in until the guests got tired, dispersing for home. When they said good bye, they wished Mr. and Mrs. Patterson long life, happiness and prosperity.

On July 3d, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Juhring, Mr. and Mrs. George D. Kinsey, John Wilkinson, all of Brooklyn, and others, made a very delightful excursion to the elegant home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Stengele, in Plainfield, one of the prettiest towns in New Jersey, in order to celebrate the glorious Fourth of July. The evening was made highly enjoyable by the exchange of warm greetings, social chat, and light refreshments. The guests were prevailed upon to stay until the seventh. Thanks to the hospitality of the Stengele family, their own house proved to be an ideal place for the and recreation. In the morning, they were shown to the stable and poultry farm, called "Plainfield Poultry Farm." It is a very pretty sight, especially to see hundreds of chickens. Mr. Stengele's short-talk on how to raise hens successfully shows his good understanding of the business. Mr. Juhring suggested a long ride in a bus, to take in views of beautiful farms surrounding and make a surprise call on Peurose Bros. of Dunellen, four miles from Plainfield.

Fifth Annual Outing of the Brooklyn Guild of Deaf-Mutes will be held at Forest Park, opposite Franz and Schubert's Hotel Zunn Waldschloss, formerly Schmidt's Grove, on Myrtle Avenue, between Ridgewood and Richmond Hill, Brooklyn. Everyone may have plenty of fresh air and recreation, meet old and new friends there.

Free admission, on Saturday afternoon, July 26, 1913, from 2 to 9 P.M. Bring your lunch with you. R. H. Anderson, Chairman.

How to reach the Park. Take Myrtle Avenue Elevated train, via Ridgewood from New York and Brooklyn Bridge, get off at Wyckoff Avenue, get a transfer to Myrtle Avenue Trolley, via Richmond Hill, Union Avenue trolley from Greenpoint to Ridgewood, the same route as above.

In almost every city where there is a Catholic mission to the deaf, the observance of Ephpheta Sunday will be celebrated on July 27th. In this city the annual observance of the Feast Day of the Deaf originated with that sterling friend of all the deaf, Rev. M. R. McCarthy, S.J., and that it has been recognized is best evidenced by the general observance throughout the country. As usual Mass will be offered at nine o'clock, in the chapel of St. Francis Xavier's College, when the deaf will receive Communion in a body. Breakfast will be served under the direction of the Xavier Ephpheta Society following the service. The afternoon will be spent at a reunion of all the Catholic deaf at St. Joseph's Institute, Westchester.

A big crowd of members and friends of the Xavier Deaf-Mute Club, if the weather is right, will spend Sunday, July 28th, at Rockaway Park, Rockaway Beach. The finding place will be Curley's Atlas Hotel, which affords every requisite for family parties and for those who prefer a seashore dinner anywhere from five cents to five dollars. A bunch of sharp-shooters are expected to bring their guns along and kodak everything and everybody in sight. This outing of the Xavier members was arranged as a substitute for a contemplated event on Ephpheta Sunday at the same place. On that day the members will be guests of St. Joseph's Institute, Westchester.

The Guild of Silent Workers held its annual Outing, on Saturday afternoon, July 12th, at Van Courtlandt Park. It was quite successful in every way, and attracted between fifty and sixty deaf-mutes, Messrs. Stern and Elsworth were the committee in charge, and they got up games for the ladies, furnished ice cream and lemonade, which Mrs. Elsworth and Mrs. Stern sold very rapidly. The prizes in the games were not awarded, but will be given to the winners soon after the next meeting of the Guild. Rev. Dr. Chamberlain was on hand till late in the afternoon, but left to catch a train, so as to officiate on Sunday at the Gallaudet Home. The entire afternoon was ideal for an outing. The sky was cloudy, but not a drop of rain fell until the outing was over, and then it came in torrents.

Mr. George William Veditz, of Colorado Springs will deliver a reading on "Faust" the masterpiece of the great German author, Goethe, in the rooms of the Deaf-Mutes' Union League, on Saturday evening, August 16th, at 8:15 P.M. There will be no charge for admission, and the public is cordially invited to meet the gifted and well-known gentleman from Colorado. Please tell your friends about this and let us give him a reception worthy of our New York.

While Joseph Zeiss and Louis Baker were visiting the former's brother-in-law, Mr. I. Feinberg, at Riverhead, L. I., Hudson G. Wells called on them, coming on his Indian motorcycle. The three had a fine time next day, and saw the Riverhead vs. Paterson, N. J., ball game. Later Mr. Wells called with his horse and carriage, and took Messrs. Zeiss and Baker to his home. They had big times bathing and climbing sand hills.

Proceedings have been instituted for a partition sale of the St. Nicholas Building, 513, 515 and 519 Broadway, and 84 to 94 Mercer Street; the Haight Building at 156-158 Broadway, and 29 Liberty Street, and the Jansen Building, at 11 and 13 Waverley Place. The action is brought by David Henry Haight, and others, against Edward Clarence Haight, and others, trustees of David Henry Haight.

Charles Eugene Spiegel, who is an active member of St. Ann's Church for Deaf-Mutes, has given up employment owing to ill health, and is now enjoying a needed rest. He expects to leave for the mountains, July 19th, where he intends to spend several months in recreation and sports, believing that the change will restore him to complete health.

William H. Farnham, Henry Peters, Lawrence Weinberg, Lyman H. Metzger, Sol Buttenheim and Julius Seandall spent three days over the Fourth at Belmar, N. J., and reported joyous times there, with several beauties from Brooklyn, namely, Misses Bachmann, Emrick and Kaufmann, all under one roof as guests of Miss Fanny Brown and her parents.

The Union League had its usual quota of visitors from out-of-town, and last Saturday, Charles Sanford, of Boston, Mr. Seely, of Omaha, and Mr. Quinn, of Kingston, N. Y., were much interested in the apartments of its club-rooms. Mr. Quinn applied for membership.

Mr. Robert B. McGinnis surprised the members of the Union League last Thursday evening, when they saw him in regular motor garb and in his own automobile, which he drove all the way from Stamford, Ct., in company with Albert Howard, a former member of the club.

Mr. Adolph Pfeiffer also owns a motorboat, which is being plied hither and thither, across and along the shores of Lake George. He owns several trophies, which attest to its lightning speed, in notable contests against crack boats in seasons past.

Mr. Charles J. LeClercq, the lone fisherman of the Union League, was no story teller, as when he returned from Canarsie Bay, he generously distributed his entire catch of flounders amongst the married members of the Union League club.

Mr. Hyacinth Dramis, a young man of intelligence and a graduate of the Fanwood School, and an Italian by birth, was admitted to membership of the Union League at its meeting last week.

A sweater coat was found at the Picnic and Games of the Alphabet A. C., June 28th. Owner will please communicate with Thos. J. Cosgrove, 37 Douglas Street, Brooklyn, N. Y.

Mr. Henry C. Kohlman will return on July 21st, to town after spending a month at Lake Placid, a lovely body of water situated in the high altitudes of the Adirondacks.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Koffman, of New York, returned home last month, after a delightful visit to Miss Freyberg in Poughkeepsie.

Mr. Judson P. Radcliffe is now on his vacation, ruffling the limpid waters of the Hudson with his fast motorboat.

Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Simonson spent about a week at Glenside, Pa., as guests of Mr. D. Ellis Lit.

Lillie Robinson and Stella Kind are spending their three weeks' vacation at Budd Lake, N. J.

FANWOOD.

The weather has been rather uncomfortable the past week, being quite warm. However, the pupils feel thankful they are up here where it is much more cool and healthy than living in the crowded portions of the city.

Mr. George S. Gompers, of Brooklyn, N. Y., a graduate of this Institution of 1910, and now Instructor of Military Drill and Gymnastics, at the West Virginia School for the Deaf, dropped into the JOURNAL office last Wednesday.

C. Golden and M. Cohen spent the whole day on Sunday last, which was sweltering hot, at Seville Bath, Coney Island. Their shoulders and arms are tanned to brown. There they met Elowitz, Schutz, Schnapp, Moscovitz, pupils of this Institution, who are summering at their homes.

Sunday morning, the girls under the charge of Miss Hall, took a walk to Fort Washington Park, the boys in charge of Messrs. Altenderfer and Durand duplicating that feat in the afternoon by going to the same park.

Miss Alice Tracy, who graduated with highest honors this year, being awarded with Holbrook Testimonial, came down to see the girls remaining here, last Wednesday, and had a long and pleasant conversation.

Through permission of Principal Currier, about twelve girls, under the supervision of Misses Hall, Hancock and Robbins, were able to enjoy the athletic events held at Van Courtlandt Park last Saturday afternoon.

Mr. George E. Maragraf saw the game of baseball between Chicago and New York, last Wednesday. He is an enthusiast on athletic sports, and has made a reputation for himself as a baseball player for the Fanwood team.

July 10th was Professor Jones' birthday. Congratulations were showered on him by the pupils and friends. He is now summering at Point O' Woods, which is near Fire Island, L. I.

Every morning before breakfast, Miss Hall takes the girls on short excursions around the grounds of the Institution.

Mr. Capelli has finished his vacation, and is again performing his duties in the printing office.

Last Sunday afternoon, Messrs. Quinn, Wiemuth, and Greene were here, after attending the morning services at St. Ann's Church.

Miss Ida Bucher, a former pupil here, went to Pennsylvania, where she will have a vacation amid rural scenes.

Miss Celia Gerschaneck came into the printing office to see her brother, Solia Gerschaneck, last Monday.

Among recent visitors at Fanwood were Harry Blechner, G. Gilmore and Elowitz.

W. S. Holmes, Superintendent of the Louisiana School for the Deaf, and his wife, visited this Institution on Tuesday. J. J. O'R.

FLORIDA.

On Sunday at high noon, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. S. Williams, on Emerson Avenue, Miss Emma L. Pike and Mr. John Tom Hower were married, L. L. Dickman officiating. Mr. Hower recently came to Ruskin from Baton Rouge, La. Miss Pike has been in Ruskin about a month, coming from St. Augustine. The contracting parties were schoolmates in Washington, D. C., at the college there for deaf-mutes. They are old schoolmates of Mr. and Mrs. Williams, and it was a great pleasure to the latter to have their friends married at their home. This is the second wedding that L. L. Dickman has performed in this sign-language, and he is becoming quite an adept at it. During Sunday morning, numerous bouquets of roses, honeysuckle, lilies and other flowers from Ruskin gardens found their way to the Williams home for the bride and groom. There was no one present aside from the four parties, it being preferred that the wedding be a quiet one.

After Christian Endeavor society and lecture at Assembly Hall, Sunday night, the young people and many of the older people present formed a serenading party, and proceeded to the Williams home, where a serenade was given to the bride and groom. To carry the matter closer home to these people, Mrs. Williams, while the party sang a song, pictured it in sign-language, giving a very beautiful effect to the song. The serenaders were favored with a taste of wedding cake, as well as other cakes and candy, for Mrs. Williams was prepared for such an emergency. Mr. and Mrs. Hower have made quite a place for themselves already in Ruskin life, and Ruskin people were not slow in showing their approval of this happy marriage. The new couple will occupy the Ritchie house on Willard Avenue, near the Inn, until the last of August, when they go to Baton Rouge for the fall and winter until Mr. Hower completes his work there, after which they will return to Ruskin, and make their permanent home here, building at that time.

Last Friday evening, at the home of Misses of Aurora and Geggada Miller, a shower was given to Mr. Hower and Miss Pike and a pleasant evening of games enjoyed. Mr. Hower has some very fine kodak albums which, better than a book, depict the college days of himself and his bride.—Florida Beacon, July 3.

Southern California

The picnic was enjoyed at Alamitos Bay, on the Fourth of July, and there were more than one hundred fifty deaf-mutes.

It is rumored that N. S. Lewis, a printer, is very seriously ill.

Rev. Mr. Cloud, of St. Louis, Mo., occupied St. Paul's Church yesterday.

If you were a deaf-mute and were walking along a street in Long Beach with your wife, and a nickel and a five-gold-piece dollar in your pocket; and, if his affliction should arouse your sympathy, and, if out of the goodness of your heart and abundance of your substance you should hand the blind man a coin, only to discover to your horror that it was the five-gold-piece dollar, and if then you were unable, being a mute, to explain the circumstances to your beneficiary and found it no use to employ the sign-language on a blind man.

Wouldn't it peeve you? That's what happened Sunday in Long Beach. The police untangled the knots and restored to the sympathetic mute four dollars and ninety five cents.

Disheartened because of his failure to make financial progress, handicapped by his inability to hear or speak, Leon Borough, age of twenty-three, a naturalized Russian, is a suicide. The failure of the police to receive the will, written on a postal-card and mailed on the fourth in the morning, prevented the officers from receiving a warning that Borough was to kill himself. The postal was received by the police on the Saturday. He shot himself in the head in a vacant lot on Bunker Hill. He was taken to the receiving hospital, but was beyond medical aid.

His will, a few scribbled words, made Fred Satow, of 1041 Catalina legatee. "I will give my bank book—$250—to Fred Satow, 1041 Catalina Street. Don't give any body for the bank book. Farewell, Leon Borough," read the will. The document was mailed on the fourth, at 9 A.M., and Borough ended his life two hours later. Also he left a note to his father in Russia saying that his suicide was not the fault of his adopted country, and expressing "Love for all its people."

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Park, of El Monte, will leave for the East this week—first to Detroit, Mich., then to Cleveland to attend the National Convention, then to Columbus to visit their old home and friends. Then they go to New York to visit their daughter. They may be gone for two months.

Mr. W. Lacy Waters expects to start for New York in a week, to be gone for two months.

Mrs. Wornstaff may go to Ohio in ten days, and she may return to California in three months.

ANGELUS.
LOS ANGELES, July 10, 1913.

Convention of the Knights of De'l'Epee.

Every one is invited to attend the lecture to be given, by Rev. Thomas A. Galvin C.S.S.R., at De la Salle Hall, 56th Street and 6th Ave., or the closing feature of the Convention on Friday evening, July 18th, at 8 P.M. Besides this lecture, there will be other features of interest to all the deaf. The Knights are working for the betterment of their condition and, naturally, this advances the cause of all the deaf. The Knights endorse all the methods of education generally approved by the educated deaf, and stand ready to co-operate with other organizations that are working toward a solution of the many problems that confront the deaf of today.

Mrs. Anna Lashbrook, of 613 North Madison Street, Rome, N. Y., who is deaf, was struck by a West Dominick Street car about 7 o'clock, the evening of July 7th. Mrs. Lashbrook was hurled to the ground and one shoulder dislocated, also her body, face and head considerably bruised. Two doctors were immediately summoned and she was taken into the home of her sister, Mrs. Ered Rostizer, 700 Dominick Street. It is thought she will recover.—Utica Herald-Dispatch.

PHILADELPHIA.

News items for this column should be sent to James S. Reider, 1838 North Dover Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

The arrangements of the coming convention of the Pennsylvania Society for the Advancement of the Deaf, as far as completed, appears in the Society News for June, which has just come out.

The convention will be held in the High School Building in Shamokin, Pa., beginning on Thursday morning, August 14th. There will be two morning sessions, and one evening; the rest of the time will be allotted to pleasure. On Saturday, August 16th, there will be an all day outing at Edgewood Park, one of the best equipped parks in Central Pennsylvania. The Hotel Graemer, the best in town, will be used as the headquarters of the Society. Other hotels and their rates will be found in the convention announcement. Rev. F. C. Smielau is chairman of the committee of arrangements, to whom all inquiries concerning the arrangements should be made. His address is 1604 Chew Street, Allentown, Pa.

We hope to see an unusually large attendance at this convention, because of the central location of Shamokin and because it affords the best opportunity for a reunion of the graduates of the two leading schools for the deaf of the State. Then, also, Mr. S. S. Haas, the leader of the deaf of that section of the State, is leaving no stone unturned to provide an enjoyable time to everybody who attends the convention. He has sounded the call, "On to Shamokin," so let us swarm there like so many bees. The excursion rate from Philadelphia on the Shamokin Division of the Reading Railroad is just $5.54, while the fare on the Pennsylvania Railroad is $6.30.

The Hotel Graemer offers a special rate of $2 per day for two in a room, and $2.50 per day for a single person. It is desired that all who can patronize this hotel as the headquarters. Reservation of rooms can be made at once by writing to the chairman, the Rev. Mr. Smielau.

There is talk of deconsecrating the old All Souls' Church before moving into the new one. If so, the service will be held on some Sunday afternoon. The date will be announced later. One of the bishops will take the service.

Rev. Mr. S. C. O. Dantzer spent Friday and Saturday afternoon of last week at Ocean City, as the guests of Mrs. Herbert Scott.

Messrs. Martin K. Denlinger, Daniel H. Rohrer and Henry Kulp, all of Lancaster, Pa., made a flying visit to this city, on Friday, 11th, and visited League Island and the Zoological Garden. They stopped over night with Mr. and Mrs. James T. Young, and on Saturday made a trip to Atlantic City, accompanied by Mr. Young. They returned and left for home on the evening of the same day, having had a very enjoyable time. During their visit to League Island, they met a young sailor by the name of Charles Clarke, of Stamford, Conn., whose parents are deaf-mutes.

Local Division No. 30, N. F. S. D., held its monthly meeting last Friday evening, and dispatched a large amount of business. Mr. J. D. Walls was initiated into the society at this meeting.

Theodore Natter, formerly of this city, and for the last nine years an employee of a hotel, at Bethany Beach, Del., was a recent visitor here. He has a sister living here.

Mrs. Battie Belknap leaves this week for Buffalo and Corning, N. Y., to visit her brother, whom she has not seen for a number of years. She expects to stay until Fall.

The Seranton Local Branch, through Mr. Charles L. Clark, has sent to the Treasurer of the Pennsylvania Society the sum of $21.03, representing the proceeds from several small entertainments. Good! A donation of fifty cents on behalf of the one month's old baby, Lauretta Delphine, of Mr. and Mrs. Clark, was also received.

Go with the people of All Souls' Church to Wildwood-by-the-Sea, on Thursday, July 24th, and be sure to buy a ticket with All Souls' name on it, if you wish to help the church. Trains leave Wildwood at 8:30 P.M., thus allowing a good day's stay at the pleasant resort.

There will be an ice-cream social at All Souls' Hall next Saturday, July 19th, under the auspices of Philadelphia Division No. 30, N. F. S. D. Admission, including cream, will be fifteen cents. Come for a good time!

Mr. and Mrs. William L. Davis spent the Fourth in and around Easton, Pa., with the former's folks. The following Monday Mr. Davis returned to Philadelphia, and Mrs. Davis and child proceeded to Stroudsburg, where she will spend a week or two with Miss Nettie Stemple.

The following is from the Philadelphia Record's Maryland notes, July 14, 1913:

"A supposed deaf man confined in the Queen Annes jail as a nuisance, surprised the prison authorities by suddenly asking in plain English to be released."

An auto-party took Mr. and Mrs.

R. M. Ziegler by surprise early on Friday morning, 11th inst. The party consisted of Rev. F. C. Smielau, Mr. Myers, Mr. Arnold, Mrs. Smith, and Mrs. Myers, came from Allentown. After a short stop, they proceeded through Fairmount Park, across the Delaware River, to Trenton, N. J., and thence to Atlantic City, where they expect to spend a few days and then return home.

Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Ziegler attended the funeral of Mr. George Cossart, on Sunday afternoon. He would be one hundred years old if he had lived till next November. One of his sons, John H. Cossart, is married to Mrs. Ziegler's first cousin.

TENNESSEE

CONVENTION AT MEMPHIS, JULY 3d to 5th—NEW OFFICERS ELECTED—FEDERATION TURNED DOWN.

The most unique convention ever held in Memphis closed last night, when new officers were elected for the Tennessee Association of the Deaf.

J. T. Warren, of Nashville is now president of the association, and the other officials are: W. J. Kennedy, of Knoxville, first vice president; Miss Fannie Tanton, of Memphis, second vice president; L. A. Palmer, of Knoxville, corresponding secretary; Rutledge Osborne, of Watrace, financial secretary; Chester Correll, of Memphis, treasurer, and Clarence Taggart, Joe Turnon, of Nashville, and J. A. Todd, of Memphis, directors.

The association held two business sessions yesterday and broke all speed records for the transaction of their affairs.

They had a hundred and one things under discussion, all of them relating in some way to the welfare of deaf-mutes.

One of the most important was the question of education. The discussion was led by Prof. W. S. Harris, of Jackson, Miss., who explained the various systems now in vogue.

One of them is the oral, another the finger and still another the sign method. Prof. Harris declared himself to be in favor of a combined method, which does not shut out any of the three and in a measure embraces all of them.

That system depends a great deal upon the ease with which a pupil absorbs knowledge.

The Tennessee association also decided not to join the national organization at present. The large body, so the speakers said, was not sufficiently well organized to make it beneficial.

Another problem of moment was the question of securing employment for deaf-mutes. Mr. Todd was the principal speaker on this subject. He declared that much could be done through the co-operation of the manufacturers, many of whom had already realized that the deaf-mute is a hard, steady and conscientious worker.

Among the deaf-mutes at the Memphis convention were ministers, professors, jewelers, bookkeepers, clerks and stationery engineers.

At the conclusion of the business sessions the convention adjourned to the steamer Pattona for a ride on the river.

There, too, the deaf-mutes showed themselves capable of having no end of pleasure. They had a cake walk and a popularity contest. In the cake walk, Mrs. E. P. Jones and N. E. Harris, of Memphis, fairly danced off with the prize, and in the popularity contest, Miss Martha Bell, of Dyersburg, was awarded a box of candy and S. W. Harris, of Jackson, a box of cigars, as the most popular people aboard the steamer.

The prizes were donated by the captain of the Pattona.

The convention has been a success from every standpoint. The visitors were well entertained, and yesterday they were warm in their praise of Memphis and the Business Men's Club, where the meetings have been held.

Mr. Todd and other officials of the Memphis organization worked hard to make the gathering a memorable one, and without a question of a doubt they attained that goal.

Notice to Ohioans.

Box Social, to be held at Euclid Beach, Cleveland, Ohio, by the Ladies' Aid Society, in charge of Mrs. Herman Koelle, Jr., assisted by Mrs. B. R. Allabough and Miss Lena Froelich, Saturday afternoon, at 3 o'clock, August 2d. The crowd should meet at the bowling alley, and every lady should furnish two lunch boxes, to be auctioned off. This is given for the benefit of the N. A. D. convention fund.

Urge the Clevelanders and outsiders to come and enjoy a hearty good supper, which will commence at 5:30.

PITTSBURGH.

On the grounds at Western Pennsylvania Institution for the Deaf, Edgewood Park, was a large crowd, at the fourth annual picnic on July 4th. It was under the auspices of the Pittsburgh Local Branch, P. S. A. D. Chairman H. Bardes and his helpers had their hands full looking after the appetites of the crowd with light refreshments which were sold at nominal charges.

A game of ball was played off between Capt. Painter, representing his side as "Married Men," against the term of "Bachelors," being captained by F. Blackhall. It was well played in order to win the prize, "Watermelon." The nines were as follows:

Leuz, 2b.,	2	2	0	Dorian, 3b.,	1	1	1
Davis, r.f.,	1	0	0	Boeker, l.f.,	0	1	1
Laubin, 3b.,	2	1	0	Holger, s.s.,	1	0	1
F. B'ell, p.,	1	2	0	Holday, 1b.,	0	0	1
Lytle, 1b.,	3	1	1	Davies, 2b.,	0	0	1
G. Ball, l.f.,	0	0	0	Davis, c.f.,	0	0	0
Total	10	8	1	Total	3	2	5

It was stopped at the end of the sixth inning, in order to allow them to indulge in their enjoyments among the crowds.

The umpires were Robert Orr and Charles Ott. The "Bachelors" got the melon and devoured it in a moment, before any other body could manage to ask or beg for a little piece.

Johnstown, Pa., was Miss Frances Dedrick's best attraction to spend the Fourth, and she stayed there over Sunday among her relatives and friends.

The Pastime Athletic Club was re-organized last week, with J. McDowell as their manager. They expect to present a strong nine and will make a better showing this time than last year. Their first game will be played off at Mt. Pleasant, Pa., on Saturday, July 19th. They practice in the evenings on the grounds of the School for the Deaf, at Edgewood Park.

Owing to the coming of the thunder-storm, some parties were allowed to spread out for their lunch inside the building for supper, through the courtesy of Superintendent W. N. Burt. In the boys' reading room, a party of twenty persons were seen seated around a long table, which was loaded with many delicacies, which were very tempting to their hunger. Mrs. H. Danver and Miss E. Apell prepared them to perfection, to satisfy and fill their appetites. It was voted as a great treat by the crowd.

C. A. Painter, with his big camera, took a picture of the picnicers on the front steps of the main building. It was a good picture.

A jolly crowd, consisting of Misses Zelch, R. Carlier, A. Bayers and Messrs. W. Zelch, W. Bosworth, D. Irvin, J. Stewart and J. Smith, went to the beautiful resort at Ohio Pyle to spend the day on July 4th. They reported a splendid time.

St. Margaret's Mission for the Deaf, of Trinity P. E. Church, will have their annual picnic at Kennywood Park, on Saturday afternoon, August 2d. On that day the Scottish Clans will picnic there.

Mr. A. B. Greener, of Columbus, O., spent the afternoon among the picnicers at Edgewood Park on the 4th. There he was surprised and delighted to meet a good number of his old pupils from the Ohio School for the Deaf. About a dozen of Ohio mutants were present, coming from Cleveland, Canton, Alliance and McGraun.

McGrann, O., was well represented at the picnic by H. Cook and family, C. B. Cook, Robert Neal and C. George. Mrs. W. F. Dorian and her son, Howard, and Mrs. Toomey, came all the way from Alliance to spend the day with their old friends. The writer failed to get the names of some other people from Cleveland and Canton and other places in Ohio.

Mrs. A. Covell, nee Hitchcock, of Parkersburg, W. Va., attended the picnic, and met some of her old friends whom she had not seen for a long time, since she was with them at the old school at Turtle Creek. It was a delightful visit, and she will never forget the good times she had at this picnic.

Mrs. K. Etter, nee Falck, of Lancaster, was seen mingling among the big crowd with her usual pleasant and genial face, and many of her friends were so delighted to see her. She will stay at her parents' home for a month, and her husband is expected to come here from Lancaster, and both will go to the N. A. D. Convention at Cleveland, O.

Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Teegarden are now enjoying their summer vacation at Mt. Gretna, Pa. Their old friend, Louis Nickum, of Ellwood City, not knowing of their absence from Wilkensburg, called at their house and did lots of knocking at the door. Not receiving any answer, he opened the door and found no person in the house. He went over to spend the day at the picnic, and was disappointed that he missed seeing the Teegardens.

PENNSYLVANIA.

TWENTY-SEVENTH CONVENTION OF THE PENNSYLVANIA SOCIETY FOR THE ADVANCEMENT OF THE DEAF, AT SHAMOKIN, PENNSYLVANIA.

AUGUST 14, 15, 16, 1913.

The meetings will be held in the High School Building, beginning at 10:30 o'clock, Thursday morning, August 14th.

Thursday morning, August 14th.

1. Invocation, Rev. W. C. Charlton, Rector of Trinity Church.
2. Address of Welcome by W. H. R. Smith, Esq., Hargrave.
3. Response by Mr. Thomas Breen, of Philadelphia.
4. Reading of Minutes of last Meeting.
5. Reports of Officers.
6. Appointment of Committees.
7. New Business.

Thursday afternoon.

Mr. S. S. Hass, the Chairman of the Local Committee, will take the delegates and visitors on a sight-seeing trip around the city, and a stop will be made at one of the largest coal breakers in the world. The largest coal bank in the world is at Shamokin, and all will find the trip to Shamokin a very interesting one from an educational standpoint. Shamokin is a fine city of 25,000 population. Coal mining is the chief industry and there are three railroads—the Pennsylvania, the Philadelphia and Reading and the Lehigh Valley. The Local Branch is a lively organization and the people of the city have been very generous in their support of the Home, as has been shown by their contributions in the past.

Thursday evening, eight o'clock. Public Meeting.

1. Invocation, Rev. Franklin C. Smielau, General Missionary to the Deaf of Central Pennsylvania.
2. Annual Address by the President of the Society, Mr. James B. Reider.
3. Report of the Board of Trustees of the Home at Doylestown.
4. Address by members and others.
The public is cordially invited to attend this meeting in particular. Professor A. U. Downing, of the Western Pennsylvania Institution for the Deaf and Dumb, Edgewood Park, Pa. will be present to interpret in speech for the benefit of all those who can hear. The address of the President and the Report of the Board of Trustees will give a clear idea of the objects of the Society and the nature of the Home.

Friday morning, August 15th, at nine o'clock.

1. Invocation by Rev. C. O. Dantzer, M.A., Pastor of All Souls' Church, Philadelphia.
2. Reports of Committees.
3. Election of Four Managers.
4. Unfinished Business.
5. New Business.
6. Adjournment.

Friday afternoon Mr. Thomas Breen, of Philadelphia, will give an entertaining lecture in the parlor of the Grammar Hotel.

Friday evening, at 7:30 sharp, everybody attending the Convention will be the guests of the Northumberland County Local Branch. Arolley ride will be taken to Welsh Scales, where refreshments will be served. Returning to Shamokin a banquet will be held at the Hotel Grammar, with speeches from some of the prominent workers of the Society.

Saturday, August 16th.

An all-day outing will take place at Edgewood Park, one of the best equipped Parks in Central Pennsylvania. Trolley cars leave every few minutes and all will find it convenient to reach the Park at any hour. Boating, Bathing, Baseball, and all the popular amusements prevail at the Park. Everybody is urged to patronize the refreshment stands, which will be in charge of the Local Committee, who desire to turn in a handsome profit for the Home.

Hotels and Rates.

The Chairman has made arrangements with the proprietors of the Grammar Hotel, Mr. Hugh Griffin, to use the Grammar Hotel as the Headquarters of the Society. This is a new hotel, the finest in the County, and has every convenience. A special rate of $2.50 per day, two in a room, has been granted. The single rate will be $3.50 per day.

Windsor Hotel, $2 and $2.50 per day.
City Hotel, $1.50 per day.
Mansion House, $1.50 per day.
Eagle Hotel, $1.50 per day.
Exchange Hotel, European Plan.
Girard House, $1.50 per day.
Central Hotel, $1.25 per day.
St. Elmo Hotel, $1.00 per day.

It will be well for all who intend to attend the Convention to write to the Rev. Franklin C. Smielau, who will be very glad to reserve rooms at the Grammar Hotel especially. First come, first served, and rooms will be given out accordingly. Take no chances of being left, but write now. The Windsor Hotel is also recommended. The Local Committee will meet all trains and act as guides. For further information, hotel reservations, etc., write to the

New Head of Hartford School for Deaf.

Frank Rowland Wheeler, of Mystic, the newly appointed principal of the American School for the Deaf, was introduced to a number of the directors yesterday afternoon, at the meeting at the rooms of the Hartford Steam Boiler Inspection and Insurance Company. Mr. Wheeler makes a very favorable impression. He appears to be particularly aggressive, and displays a keen knowledge of present day methods in the instruction of the deaf. In his college days at Brown University and later in his training days at the normal school of Gallaudet College for the Deaf, he was a football player. He believes in the athletics for the deaf students, and will seek to put into practice in Hartford the methods of coaching deaf students that he had an opportunity to observe and practice, while at the Minnesota School for the Deaf from 1901 until 1906.

Then, Mr. Wheeler is a firm advocate of practical instruction for the deaf. He understands the principles of carpenter work, even through the advanced stages, and thinks that farming should be taught deaf students. A number of the graduates of the Minnesota Institute for the Deaf are now successful truck farmers, operating outside of the various cities. He knows of three or four graduates that are among the big fruit raisers of the Pacific Coast. Of course the work at the local school will not be carried on at any such extent as is pursued in the West, but an effort will be made to equip the boys and girls with a good deal of practical knowledge. Some work has been done in this direction at the school here in the past, but the work will be carried out on a much larger scale in the future.

Professor H. A. Perkins, president of the board of directors, and Dr. Edward M. Gallaudet, introduced Mr. Wheeler yesterday afternoon. Both spoke very highly of his past record, and said that they had all confidence that he would be a good man for the position of principal. They said that men who have worked with him in other institutions, say that while he is exceedingly aggressive, he is, nevertheless, very kind and considerate in his dealings with the deaf students.—Hartford Courant.

$2,000 for Library.

HON. HOMER N. LOCKWOOD REMEMBERS FORT PLAIN—OTHER REQUESTS.

The will of the late Homer N. Lockwood, well known in Fort Plain, who died in Washington D. C., several weeks ago, has been filed for probate. That Mr. Lockwood remembered Fort Plain is quite evident from the fact that under the terms of the will the Fort Plain Free Library will get $2,000. This is a gift which was most unexpected and will be greatly appreciated by those interested and will surely be used to good advantage. Another Fort Plain beneficiary is William C. Rapp, who will receive $300. Robert C. Wagner, of Albany, formerly of this village, comes in for $500. It appears that Mr. Lockwood had 31 nieces nephews, grand nieces and grand nephews, who will inherit $3,000 each. He also bequeathed $20,000 to a hospital at Auburn. The total amount of money that has been definitely named will amount to about $250,000.

There is also a large residue which will be equally divided among foreign missions and other charitable institutions, and we believe that it will be correct to estimate the fortune of Mr. Lockwood at about half a million.

Mr. Lockwood was at one time an assemblyman from this district and was well and favorably known. He started in the world with practically nothing, and through earnest efforts and hard work, built a fortune of which he could be justly proud. The gift to the Fort Plain Free Library is one that is rightly placed, as that institution is surely worthy of his remembrance, and the news of his kindness was received in this village with much satisfaction. Menzo Crouse, of this village, is a relative by marriage.—Fort Plain, N. Y., Standard, July 10.

Talk of the dog as a beast of burden in England and one recalls the importance of the canine help in the fish transit business of the past. The carriers from the south coast towns to inland markets were once Newfoundland dogs. Thus the order of the team as quoted by Mr. Parker in "Highways and Byways in Surrey," teams of two or four were harnessed together. The man would cock his legs up along the shaves. They not only went as fast as the coaches, but they gained time when the coach stopped to change horses. A dog-drawn carriage used to bring fish from Littlehampton to Godalming, where oysters were often to be bought, three a penny. Oysters at three a penny have gone with the dogs!—London Chronicle.

Binghamton, N. Y.

The Association of Deaf-Mutes of this city quietly celebrated the Fourth at the home of S. Smith, 41 Dickinson Street. Many topics of importance were discussed. Most important to them was the fact that several deaf-mute children in the vicinity are not being thoroughly schooled, according to the State and county laws. They also believe in making application to the proper officials to establish a deaf-mute school in this city. The friends and relatives of the deaf-mutes in this section within a radius of 50 miles or more are convinced there is need of establishing a deaf and dumb school to educate these unfortunate people.

Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Jones Benninger, of Nicholson, Pa.; Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Austin, of New Milford, Pa.; Miss Myrtle Morgan, of Beaumont, Pa.; Miss V. Neff, of Union; E. Willets and Mr. and Mrs. E. Briggs, of Lestershire; Miss S. Cohn, Miss Ruth Lytle and mother, S. Smith and mother, Miss Louise Austin and mother, Mrs. W. F. Austin, Matthew Rozeboril, W. Donahue, Charles F. Hollen and Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Williamson, of this city; Mr. Rodgers and Mr. and Mrs. Ben Tilbury, of Endicott, and Henry Coe, of Newark, N. J.

The salutation given when a vessel lowers or "dips" its flag, is one of the oldest and most honorable of all forms of marine greeting. This form of salute has always been demanded by English speaking seamen, and its exaction has warmed the hearts and used up the powder of generations of naval commanders. In the old days, for a foreign ship, whether merchant or naval, to enter an English port without veiling topsails or dipping its nation flag, was to run the risk of war, although the profoundest peace existed. Without warning or argument, the shore defense of a man-of-war would send a round shot across the bows or between the masts of the foreigner, and if the offending flag did not instantly come down, the insolent intruder was brought to her senses by being raked through and through. Such was the reception accorded by Sir John Hawkins in the sixteenth century to the Spanish admiral, who, in time of peace, sailed into Portsmouth Sound without veiling his topsails or lowering his flag. Salutes are essential matters of naval etiquette, and are exchanged on an elaborate code, fixed by the maritime powers. The number of guns to be fired in all circumstances is minutely stipulated.

INVESTMENT BONDS

Savings banks, real estate mortgages and BONDS are the great staple investments for funds in any civilized country.

Our BONDS can be purchased in the multiples of $100, $500 and $1000, and they yield from 4% to 6% per cent a year.

On the day you purchase the BONDS, your interest begins to draw from that day, and the interest is payable semi-annually.

When buying BONDS of us, and if you have no safe place for them, we would give you a receipt for them and take care of them in our vaults, and send you a cheque for the interest every six months.

BONDS are positively and invariably a first lien on corporate property and your investment in them is as safe as human foresight can make it.

Ask for our Monthly Bulletin or descriptive circulars.
